

Parking is always a challenge around MIT these days with the massive amounts of new construction.

For the Lynne Marchiando Trophy regatta, the athletic department has reserved free parking for each team and for race official personnel in the Kresge parking lot.

When heading west from the pavilion on Memorial Drive go through the underpass at Mass Ave and take your first right on Danforth St. after exiting the tunnel. The parking lot is on your left at the end of the road. If the Kresge lot is full, then the next available free parking lot for athletics is Westgate which is to the west of the MIT Athletics fields along Vassar Street.

Another option would be the Amherst St E51 parking lot. You have to approach from Kendall Square as Wadsworth St is blocked off from Memorial Drive.

Sunday might be easier to find a spot along Memorial Drive as we arrive an hour earlier. However, the parking lots are always an option. I suggest dropping players and gear off at the pavilion first as it is quite a hike back to the pavilion.
